The power of family engagement

Family engagement is 2X more effective at predicting student achievement than socioeconomic status.

Family engagement is shown to drive better test scores, course completion and graduation rates.

This pandemic has been very challenging for all of us and it is definitely new territory. TalkingPoints has been a tremendous support to our school and families...

Jackie Rowedder
Principal, Cincinnati Public Schools

TalkingPoints provides us with real-time data and analytics on parent and teacher engagement that are essential for supporting our district's Strategic Plan of engaging families and communities during COVID-19 distance learning and beyond.

Jacqueline LeRoy
Director of ENL, Syracuse City School District

It's only the third day of school and there have already been over 5,000 messages sent between teachers and multilingual families using TalkingPoints. Engaging families from day one is critical to keeping students engaged day 101!
